PRIORITIZATION

What to do first

1

Effort Medium | Good signal

Strengthen the pages that need to win the searches

This is the fastest path from loose visibility to being chosen more often when someone is close to buying.

Start with 2-3 updates to your most important pages or strongest sections that match the searches where you are currently missing entirely or only visible as a source, and make it clear who you help, what you solve, and how an engagement starts.

MAINLY BASED ON

- Scandinavian distributor of children's products and toy brands
- toy distributor for retailers in Scandinavia
- wholesale toy distributor Denmark

IN PRACTICE

- Strengthen the most relevant existing page or add a short FAQ, case, or service section that answers the query "Scandinavian distributor of children's products and toy brands" directly with a clear explanation, concrete examples, and a clear next step.
- Strengthen the most relevant existing page or add a short FAQ, case, or service section that answers the query "toy distributor for retailers in Scandinavia" directly with a clear explanation, concrete examples, and a clear next step.

MOST LIKELY
+28%

RANGE
17-42%

SCOPE
3 updates to core pages or sections

2

Effort Small | Good signal

Make your credibility clearer on Google and LinkedIn

When your online footprint is unclear, you become harder to trust and harder to choose.

Make your most important profiles consistent and complete so buyers and AI answers meet the same clear picture of you across Google, LinkedIn, and the rest of your online footprint.

MAINLY BASED ON

Google Business | Linkedin | Instagram

IN PRACTICE

- Create and complete a Google Business Profile with company name, category, address, phone number, and website link.
- Use the same short positioning on LinkedIn as on the website: what you help with, who you help, and when people typically reach out.
- Update the Instagram bio and link so it points to a page with your core offerings instead of a generic homepage.

+18%

RANGE
12-26%

SCOPE
1 profile + 2 copy/bio updates

3

Effort Medium | Good signal

Make your difference clearer in buying situations

When others are mentioned more often than you, your strengths need to be easier to understand without forcing the buyer to guess.

Make it clear why a buyer chooses you with a short decision section, 3 sharp differences, and a concrete example of when you are the right choice.

MAINLY BASED ON

DDI Group

IN PRACTICE

- Add a section on your main service or About page with the heading "When are we the right choice?".
- Describe 3 concrete differences with short explanations: who you work closest with, how the collaboration runs, and what the buyer typically gets out of it.
- Support the difference with a mini-example or short case where your solution created clearer security, faster access, or less operational friction.

RANGE
13-30%

SCOPE
1 decision section + 3 proof points
